Dear Councillors

Every body should have a heart defibrillator to save people's lives. Lots of people really die and then the heart defibrillator saves them their life. If anyone really dies get heart defibrillator that save your life. Has everybody got a defibrillator?

If I saved your life you should buy one it is good for you can buy a wrist band? I think every one should buy for your house or school. I think every school should have one because there's lots of children. In case the heart hurts self bad or complain anyone could clap and we can help. 10000 people died every year by heart attack it is the biggest killer and we want to stop it.

Dear Catherine McConnell M.P.

We, year 4/5, think that every school in Britain should own a defibrillator in case of a sudden cardiac arrest in a public or private area. Every year 100,000 people die per year so we have tried to get a defibrillator, but if calculations are correct then we would sincerely require a defibrillator to save a child's life. We would please like a way to spread the word.

Sincerely, Alex Home

P.S. If you are still not convinced, I know a girl who is 14 and had a heart attack when 17 and a footballer who suffered when 17.
P.P.S. The reason I say this is because thousands of people die. So, please eventually everyone who hears me, please write to ask a person's name to help to spread the word.
